

No Time to Vote: Challenges Facing America's Overseas Military Voters Rhode Island

To ensure their votes will arrive in time to be counted, overseas military voters from Rhode Island must return their completed ballots by fax. Electronic submission affords these voters enough time to vote, but it also puts the security and privacy of their ballots at risk. Rhode Island's overseas military voters could avoid those concerns by returning their ballots using regular postal mail—but then they would not meet the state's deadlines to have their ballots counted. In fact, they would need at least 12 additional days in the process to have enough time to vote.

THE CURRENT VOTING PROCESS

Rhode Island already allows blank ballots to be faxed to overseas military voters so that they get their election materials much faster. Since these voters may not have easy access to fax machines, the state could consider sending blank ballots by e-mail or other electronic means (such as through a Web site). To enable these voters to return completed ballots by postal mail, rather than fax, in time to have their votes count, Rhode Island would need to send out ballots earlier, extend the deadline by which completed ballots must be received to be counted or a combination of the two steps that will add at least 12 days to the process.

SOLUTIONS

POSSIBLE FIX	DOES IT PROVIDE ENOUGH TIME TO VOTE?
SEND BLANK BALLOTS OUT EARLIER AND ACCEPT COMPLETED BALLOTS LATER	YES TIME TO VOTE
ALLOW MINIMUM 45-DAY TRANSIT TIME FOR BALLOTS	YES TIME TO VOTE
ELIMINATE NOTARY REQUIREMENT	ALREADY IN PLACE NO CHANGE
ALLOW ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION OF BLANK BALLOTS	ALREADY IN PLACE NO CHANGE
EXPAND USE OF FEDERAL WRITE-IN ABSENTEE BALLOT FOR STATE AND LOCAL ELECTIONS	ALREADY IN PLACE TIME TO VOTE

No Time to Vote: States that send out their absentee ballots after the date necessary for military overseas voters to have enough time to meet the required deadlines.

At Risk: States that provide overseas military voters with only five days or less of extra time to complete the voting process.

Time to Vote, But with Concerns: States that provide enough time to vote, but at a price. Overseas military voters from these states have time to vote only if they return their completed ballots by fax or e-mail—practices that raise concerns about voters' privacy and the security of ballots.

Time to Vote: States that provide overseas military voters with more than five days of extra time—that is, time beyond the absolute minimum needed to return a completed ballot—to allow for any delays in the voting process.
