

A photograph of several pink pigs crowded together in a metal cage. The cage bars are prominent, and the pigs' faces are pressed against them. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows.

Drug dependent.

On many industrial farms, antibiotics are routinely mixed with the livestock feed to compensate for crowding and bad sanitation. Unfortunately, this promotes the development of drug-resistant bacteria that can spread to humans. Congress needs to protect consumers by preventing the misuse of antibiotics in animal agriculture.

SaveAntibiotics.org

THE PEW CAMPAIGN ON HUMAN HEALTH AND INDUSTRIAL FARMING

THE PEW
CHARITABLE TRUSTS