Why We Need to Fix Our Parks

National Park Service sites in Alaska have close to $107 million in deferred maintenance

The Backlog Challenge

The National Park Service (NPS) is over 100 years old, and the infrastructure and facilities at the more than 400 sites it manages nationwide are aging. Add wear and tear from visitors and inconsistent annual funding, and the Park Service can’t keep pace with needed repairs. NPS’ maintenance backlog has grown to an estimated $12 billion, and almost half of that is for highest-priority assets.

NPS sites in Alaska have almost $107 million in deferred maintenance.

- $33M Buildings
- $488K Marina and waterfront systems
- $404K Campgrounds
- $52M Roads, parking lots, bridges, and tunnels
- $3M Water and wastewater systems
- $17M Other

Why We Need to Act Now to Fix Our Parks

Our national parks document American history, provide opportunities for recreation, and sustain local and regional economies.

NPS Sites Also Support Local Communities

NPS estimates that in 2018, its sites in Alaska:

- Generated $1.4 billion in visitor spending in local communities.
- Attracted 3 million visits.
- Generated $2 billion in national economic output.
- Supported 17,760 jobs.

If all the deferred maintenance at NPS sites in Alaska was addressed, an estimated 970 jobs could be created or supported.
