

102 Coastal Businesses Support A New Nature Coast Aquatic Preserve

The coastal waters of Citrus, Hernando, and Pasco counties are home to over 400,000 acres of seagrass. These lush meadows work in concert with mangrove islands, saltmarsh, oyster reef, sponge and hard bottom habitats to provide the foundation for coastal businesses, time-honored family traditions, and a way of life along Florida's Nature Coast.

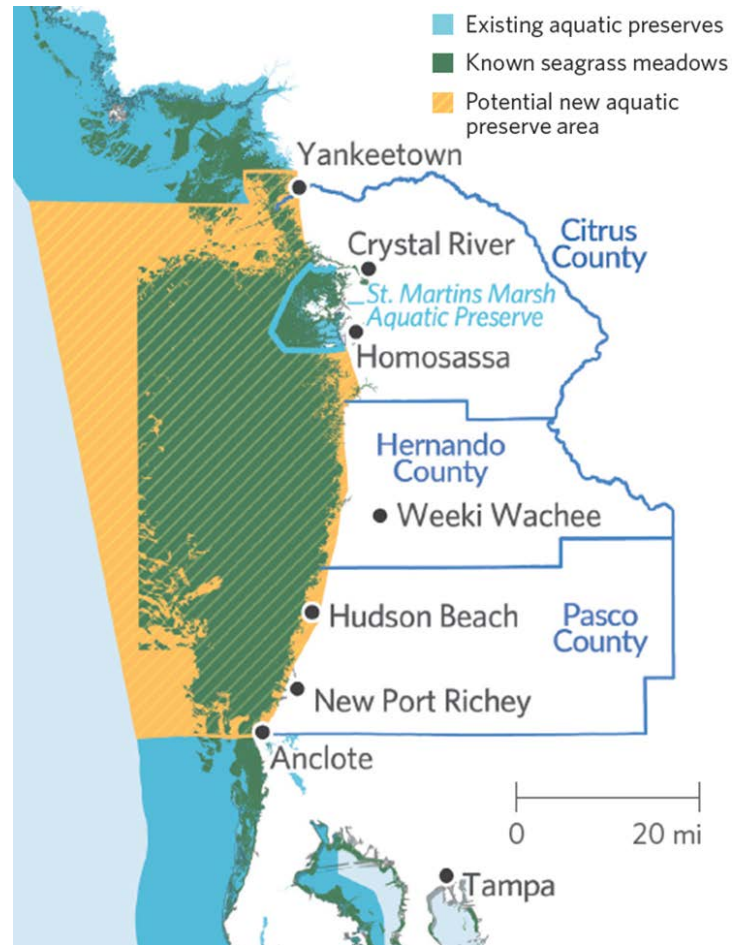

As business owners and stewards of our community, we support state legislation to create a new aquatic preserve and close the gap in protection for this valuable marine coastline.

Healthy coastal habitats foster fishing, boating, and tourism that drive our economy. 70 percent of Florida's recreationally and commercially valuable fish species, including gag grouper, spotted seatrout, redfish, tarpon, stone crab, bay scallop, and shrimp spend at least part of their life cycle within seagrass communities. These seagrass-dependent species, as well as manatees and sea turtles, support valuable fisheries, seafood production, working waterfronts, and eco-tourism that generate approximately $600 million for the region's economy annually, provide more than 10,000 jobs, and fuel over 500 businesses.

The aquatic preserve would span the entire coast of Citrus, Hernando, and Pasco counties, providing important coastal protections and a community-based management framework to safeguard valuable habitats, water quality, and local economies. Importantly, this designation supports all lawful and traditional public uses of the preserve, such as sport fishing, commercial fishing, boating, and swimming, that are critical to our businesses and sustain our coastal way of life. We feel a new aquatic preserve is the right tool to utilize and to conserve the region's rich coastal habitats and outstanding water quality for today and for future generations.

Please act to create a new aquatic preserve for Florida's Nature Coast.

Sincerely,

Citrus County
