Why We Need to Fix Our Parks
National Park Service sites in Virginia have more than $1.1 billion in deferred maintenance

The Backlog Challenge
The National Park Service (NPS) is over 100 years old, and the infrastructure and facilities at the more than 400 sites it manages nationwide are aging. Add wear and tear from visitors and inconsistent annual funding, and the park service can’t keep pace with needed repairs. NPS’ maintenance backlog has grown to an estimated $13.1 billion, and more than half of that is for highest-priority assets.

NPS sites in Virginia have more than $1.1 billion in deferred maintenance.

- $75.5M Buildings

NPS Sites Also Support Local Communities

NPS estimates that in 2019, its sites in Virginia:

- Generated $1.2 billion in visitor spending in local communities.
- Attracted 23 million visits.
- Generated $1.7 billion in national economic output.
- Supported 17,262 jobs.

If all the deferred maintenance at NPS sites in Virginia was addressed, an estimated 10,340 jobs could be created or supported.
